STUNNING new photos of Elvis Presley's ex-wife Priscilla reveal she's miraculously recovered from the botched silicone injections that turned her looks — and life — into a horrifying nightmare, top doctors say.

But now, thanks to what experts believe is a series of new treatments, Priscilla showed an astonishing transformation when she was snapped on May 28.

"She looks wonderful," says Dr. Jason Litner, a cosmetic surgeon who runs the Profiles Beverly Hills surgery center with his partner Dr. Peyman Solieman.

The doctors say the former Dancing with the Stars contestant has recovered her youthful looks thanks to judicious use of fillers.

"It appears she's had temporary fillers added to the lines running from the nose to the corners of her mouth," says Solieman.

Adds Litner, "It looks like she's also had fillers in her lower cheek and chin that help smooth out the lumps and bumps in her face that were so tragically noticeable before."

Priscilla's looks have gone from scary in March to sensational in May, doctors say. Circle, Priscilla in 1986 before treatments by a phony doctor wrecked her looks

"You also notice the ends of her mouth appear to be wider, which would corroborate these procedures.

"She had her laugh lines filled and her chin smoothed over so it doesn't have that masculine look.

"The procedure required several syringes, so I would guess she spent about $2,000 to $3,000 to have her face filled. The filler lasts about four to six months."

GLOBE revealed on April 14 Priscilla had been tragically deformed by silicone injections from a smooth-talking quack and con man, Daniel Serrano, who claimed to be a "doctor" from Argentina. He was not licensed to practice in the United States.

Serrano promised women his "miracle anti-wrinkle serum" was "much better than Botox."

But the miracle product was actually an industrial, low-grade silicone, similar to what's used to lubricate

He predicted Priscilla a difficult time recovering from Jiffy Lube's disaster. All will be temporary, experts

"That's absolutely correct," says Dr. Litner. "You can't piece pieces of silicone that have imbedded into the skin.

"But what Presley did was to create wider valleys to create a wider look on her face that hides the ugly bumps.

"These temporary fillers will only outlast the damage that ROCKER Steven Tyler admits years of high-octane, athletic performances on stage have taken such a toll on him he's landed in rehab!

Known for heavy drug and alcohol abuse but clean since 1986, the 60-year-old Aerosmith frontman checked into Las Encinas Hospital's chemical dependency clinic in Pasadena, Calif. It's the same facility where TV's Dr. Drew Pinsky practices and is the setting for the reality series Celebrity Rehab.

Tyler was said to have developed a dependence on painkillers and had reportedly been trying to clean himself up for several months.

Now the singer for the legendary band reveals he went into rehab to find a "safe environment" to recover from several agonizing foot surgeries and physical therapy. The operations were needed to correct longtime foot injuries resulting from his physical performances.

"The doctors told me the pain in my feet could be corrected, but it would require a few surgeries over time," says Tyler.

"The foot repair pain was intense, greater than I'd anticipated. The months of rehabilitative care and the painful strain of physical therapy were traumatic."

He says he needed a quick fix to turn off his phone, receive mail and literally get back on his feet again. And he assures fans Steven Smith has no plans to stop touring. There's a new album to release and then another tour."

Says a music insider, "Steve was very smart deciding to go to rehab to deal with his pain problems. He's got the full support of his family and the band. He can't keep a good rocker in rehab. He'll be back on stage just as his doctors let him."
